

HAIRSTON GRANTED MERCY BY JUDGE ADKINS; LITTLE TO DIE IN ELECTRIC CHAIR ON JULY 22

DECISION IS ANNOUNCED BY COURT TODAY; LITTLE JOINS THREE MEN IN DEATH ROW

"Dump John's" Services
State's Witness Save
Him From Death

DECISIONS RECALLED

Was First to Confess to Part in Murder

John "Dump" Hairston, 27, was found guilty of murder in the first degree with a recommendation for mercy by Judge Joseph W. Adkins in a decision announced Tuesday morning.

The verdict means that Hairston will spend the remainder of his life behind the walls of Ohio penitentiary for his part in the murder of John Kidney last Dec. 10.

The negro, who made his living by hauling garbage in east Columbus, was a voluntary state's witness against the five others tried in the John Kidney case, thus the mercy recommendation.

TO JOIN SMITH
Hairston's attorney, Charles E. Dresbach, has three days in which to file a motion for a new trial after which Hairston will be sentenced and taken to the penitentiary where he will join Franklin Smith, 37, colored, the only other of the six conspirators to evade the death penalty.

Opinions of residents of the city and county differed over whether or not Hairston should also receive the death penalty as every other person who was at the house on the night of the murder received. Judge Adkins, in his decision read to the defendant and attorneys for both sides, stated his reasons for granting Hairston mercy.

REVIEW SERVICE
He stated that the service John Hairston had done to the state in testifying against the others was valuable. He told of Hairston's voluntary confession helping bring about the arrests of Walker Brown and Henry Loudermilk after they had been released from the custody of Franklin Co. officers, and of his confession helping bring confessions of the others in the case with the exception of Walker Brown who still asserts his innocence of the murder.

Judge Adkins cited a number of similar decisions in courts throughout the nation in which in some instances the person who has turned state's evidence has been freed of any charge and in several the charge has been made a lesser one.

While Hairston was represented by Charles Dresbach, the case was prosecuted by E. L. Crist and Meeker Terwilliger.

County Dads Kept Busy
In Monday's Session

The county commissioners at their meeting Monday had one of the busiest days of the year. Arranging contracts, paroling indigent prisoners, awarding outside relief to several needy families and payment of county bills occupied most of the day's time.

Three prisoners, James Smith in the county jail serving out a fine of $5 and costs on petit larceny charge, Alvin Wungster in the Columbus work-house serving a fine on a charge of resisting an officer and an intoxication charge, and James Gillis, in jail serving out a $5 fine on a petit larceny charge, were ordered paroled on terms that they pay part of their fine each month beginning May 1.

The commissioners ordered $300 be taken out of the gasoline tax fund and given to the Perry-twp. trustees for repairing roads in that township.

The Universal Sewer Pipe Co. of Columbus was awarded a contract to furnish 145 lineal feet of 18-inch concrete sewer pipe at $1.20 per foot and eight lineal feet of 36-inch sewer pipe at $3.60 per foot.

Contract was entered into with the Circleville Lumber Co. for the purchase of 300 cedar posts for county road work. They are to cost 37 1/2 cents each.

The Sturms and Dillard Gravel Co. was awarded a contract to furnish 1600 tons of No. 6 gravel at 95c per ton to be delivered on the Tarleton-Adelphoid in Salt creek-twp and also 500 tons of No. 46 gravel at $1.10 per ton to be used on the Lockbourne-rd in Harrison-twp.

Decision Of Judge Adkins In John Hairston's Case

The decision of Judge Joseph W. Adkins finding John Hairston guilty of murder in the first degree with a recommendation of mercy is reported verbatim;

"The Grand Jury of Pickaway-co, Ohio, on the 22nd day of December, 1931 brought an indictment against this defendant, John Hairston, charging that he said John Hairston, on the 10th day of December, 1931, at the County of Pickaway and State of Ohio, did unlawfully and purposely and while in the perpetration of a burglary, kill John Kidney, contrary to the statutes in such case made and provided and against the peace and dignity of the State of Ohio.

"To this indictment and the charges made against him the defendant, John Hairston, on the 22nd day of January, 1932, pleaded not guilty. This plea of not guilty raises and forces the issues to be tried. The burden of proving the defendant, John Hairston, guilty of the charge raised against him in this indictment is upon the State of Ohio and each and every element in the charges in this indictment must be proven by the State beyond a reasonable doubt in order that this defendant may be found guilty.

"It is charged in the indictment that the defendant, John Hairston, did unlawfully, purposely and while in the perpetration of a burglary, kill John Kidney. The General Code of Ohio defines the crime of burglary as follows:

"Whoever in the night season, maliciously and forcibly breaks and enters any dwelling house with intent to commit a felony, or with intent to steal property of any value, is deemed guilty of burglary."

"There are five elements essential under the Code to constitute burglary:

- 1st. It must be done in the night season.
- 2nd. It must be done maliciously.
- 3rd. It must be done forcibly.
- 4th. The party must enter the premises.
- 5th. It must be with the intent to commit a felony or the intent to steal property of some value.

"The facts proven in this case beyond a reasonable doubt are as follows:

- 1st. There was a conspiracy formed by this defendant, John Hairston, together with Henry Loudermilk, Walker Brown, Arthur Little, Lacey Adams and Frank Smith to burglarize the private dwelling house of John Kidney;
- 2nd. That in pursuance of said agreement and conspiracy, this defendant, John Hairston, Henry Loudermilk, Walker Brown, Arthur Little and Lacey Adams met at or near the "Dew Drop Inn," in the village of Hanford, Franklin County, Ohio, and by way of automobile transportation went west past the residence of the said John Kidney and beyond to a mile west thereof, and parked the automobile; the evidence shows they had with them a shot gun, two revolvers and a pick handle.

"3rd. After parking the machine one mile west of said private dwelling house, this defendant, John Hairston, Walker Brown, Arthur Little and Lacey Adams leaving Henry Loudermilk with the said automobile—took with them two revolvers and the pick handle and went back to the residence of the said John Kidney, got over the fence into the yard and Walker Brown, with the pick handle, took a position to the west of the front door to said house and the nearest to the door, Arthur Little next to and to the rear of him, and Lacey Adams next to Arthur Little.

"This defendant, John Hairston, beyond a reasonable doubt was right there in the yard but placed closer to the road as a lookout.

"Beyond a reasonable doubt this was in the night season somewhere around three o'clock or may be a little later. The parties waited for the said John Kidney to come out from his house, as the evidence shows it was the general understanding that he was in the habit of going out of his house at three Mansfield, Marysville and Ohio Pen Prisoners to Receive Their Freedom.

COLUMBUS, O., April 5.—Three hundred and forty-one prisoners will be released between now and June 1 from the Mansfield reformatory for women and the Ohio penitentiary, the state board of parole announced today.

The unprecedented number of paroles were granted following hearing which has been held since March 22. In a few cases the paroles already have become effective.

Bowling Green and Wood-co convicts at the Mansfield reformatory were the principal beneficiaries of the board's record breaking granting of freedom.

A total of twelve Wood-co convicts were ordered liberated from the reformatory.

Others released from the reformatory include:

Pickaway-co, Rufus Bailey, April 15.

AMBULANCE CHASING IS ASSAILED BY BAR

TIFFIN, O., April 5.—The Seneca-co Bar Association was launched today upon a campaign against "ambulance chasing."

Plans for an intensive movement to wipe out the practice, which attorneys here say has become a "widespread racket," were drawn up at a meeting of the association yesterday.

The wedding took place in Falmouth, Ky. last Saturday and was performed by Rev. Massie.

Mrs. Armstrong is a stenographer for the Citizens Telephone Co.

The newly-married couple are at home to their friends at 168 W. High-st.

Prohibition In Finland Ends

KELSINGFORS, Apr. 5.—Finland's twelve years of prohibition came to an end today, and the government went into competition with bootleggers to supply the country with alcoholic liquors.

A last-minute decision of restaurant and hotel owners to refuse to serve any liquor portended a less gay celebration of the event than had originally been planned. Any one wishing to drink to the occasion today must buy his liquor at a government monopoly shop and then take it home for consumption.

The government liquor shops opened promptly at 10.00 a. m. long lines of buyers, composed largely of men, were before each shop despite a sleet storm which made the wait uncomfortable. In some places the purchasers had been in line from 5.00 a. m.

RELIEF MEASURE WILL BE TESTED

CINCINNATI, April 5.—A mandamus action will be filed with the State Supreme court to test the validity of the Esny-Roberts relief act signed today by Governor George White, Robert Gorman, Hamilton-co prosecutor, announced today.

Gorman said he would file the suit to test the validity of authority to issue unemployment relief bonds.

Hamilton-co commissioners planned to meet here today to issue orders for $200,000 against the $1,000,000 bond issue allowed.

ECONOMY BILL AGAIN SOUGHT BY PRESIDENT

Hoover Undaunted by Threatened Opposition as He Presses Request

WOULD CUT COST

Commission of Nine Is Asked in Bill

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Undaunted by evidences of congressional opposition, President Hoover today renewed his plea for appointment of House and Senate members to meet with administration representatives for the purpose of drafting a "comprehensive general national economy bill" which would embody the necessary reduction in federal expenses to balance the budget.

The president denied he was seeking the appointment of a commission but merely was seeking to avoid the diffusion of efforts which inevitably would result if all of the overlapping Congressional committees undertook the project.

BILL INTRODUCED
His suggestion for the creation of a joint commission to reorganize the government service in the interest of the economy would be carried out under a joint resolution introduced in the Senate this afternoon by Senator Jones, a Republican of Washington, chairman of the Senate appropriation committee.

The resolution would establish a reorganization commission of nine members three to be appointed by the president, three by the vice president and three by the speaker of the house. It would be directed to report within thirty days its recommendation for reducing waste duplication and extravagance in the government service.

"Without such action," (the drafting of an economy bill) Mr. Hoover said, "I see no way by which there can be a maximum redemption in expenditures."

Senator Barkley and Shouse were named last evening by the Democratic committee on arrangements following a day devoted to much wrangling.

Husband Slays
Invalid Wife

NEW CANAAN, Conn., April 5.—"Mercy killing" and a suicide today brought an end to the tragedy that has hung for four years over a wealthy churchman's home.

Unable to endure the sufferings of his invalid wife, Nelson Silliman, superintendent of the Congregational Sunday school, shot and killed her as she lay in bed.

Then he ended his own life with a shot gun.

RELIEF COMMITTEE GIVEN
Weapons To Fight Need

COLUMBUS, April 5.—Under laws placed in operation this week the officials of every county in Ohio have been given the power and the means of obtaining money necessary to provide relief for the hungry and the unemployed dependent upon them for help.

Thus in 40 words may be told the story of executive and legislative accomplishment resulting from Governor George White's action in calling the county-wide general assembly into extraordinary session last week.

Within 63 hours after Governor White earnestly had pleaded "Let not be said that there were in Ohio those who hungered and gave them no meat, those naked and we clothed them, not," the legislature had enacted into law the program he presented for alleviation of the distress of the needy.

MANY FACILITIES
In consequence local authorities and welfare agencies have as new weapons, to aid them in combating want the funds and facilities provided by these measures.

A state relief commission act empowering the Governor to appoint five non-salaried members to pass upon requests to issue bonds for relief purposes.

A law permitting cities and counties, but not townships, to divert their share of the gasoline tax receipts to provide direct relief until March 1, 1933. This is extended to make $10,000,000 available for relief purposes.

Another authorizing school boards and county commissioners to spend surplus funds to buy food and clothing for destitute school children until Dec. 31, 1932.

A law increasing the tax on real estate except transportation companies one per cent on amounts in excess of $100,000.

A provision that when bonds permitted under the utilities tax law have been exhausted (Continued on Page Eight.)

AIRPLANE GROOMED
Curtis Thought Aboard Boat in Atlantic

CHILMARK, Island of Martha's Vineyard, Mass., April 5.—Signals flashing between an automobile on south beach and an unknown vessel off shore in the open Atlantic today were thought to anticipate a third flight over Vineyard sound of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh in the hunt for his kidnapped baby.

At the same time marks of automobile tires were found on the beach at West Tisbury, near the summer home of former United States Senator William M. Butler.

The blinking signals were observed here. The vessel off shore subsequently disappeared.

PLANE GROOMED
Meanwhile, word came from New Jersey that the Lindbergh plane was being groomed, perhaps for another seaward dash.

The opinion was expressed generally that the man who left here Sunday night aboard the chartered steamer dragger Alva was John Hughes Curtis, Norfolk, Va., boat builder and Lindbergh associate.

Apparently he came to Massachusetts with the Lindbergh flying party Sunday afternoon and was transferred from the amphibious plane to one of the New York coast guard boats and thence to the Alva. The speculation was that Curtis was "contacting" the kidnapers through a second person and that Colonel Lindbergh was keeping in touch with Curtis.

DEATH STRIKES FAMILY TWICE

Niece Precedes Aged Woman In Death by 15 Minutes Monday Afternoon.

Death struck a Kingston family twice in 15 minutes Monday afternoon when Miss Hannah C. Raub, 80, was preceded in death by 15 minutes by her niece, Mrs. Mary Jones, 62, wife of Sannon Jones.

Miss Raub's death came at 1 p. m. at the home of a niece, Miss Flora Raub. Paralysis caused her demise after an illness of only one week. Mrs. Jones died of complications after a long illness.

Miss Raub was a native of Pickaway-co, a daughter of William and Maria Raub. She was the last of a family of 12 children.

Funeral services will be Wednesday at 3 p. m. at the home with Rev. V. C. Stump officiating.

Mrs. Jones was a daughter of Jacob and Louisa Raub and was also born in Pickaway-co. She is survived by her husband and a son, Cecil Francis, at home. Two sons preceded their mother in death.

Services for Mrs. Jones will be at 1 p. m. Wednesday, Rev. Stump officiating. Both Miss Raub and Mrs. Jones will be buried in Mt. Pleasant cemetery, Kingston.

CINCINNATI, O., April 5.—Former Governor Myers Y. Cooper has "never known people to be so serious-minded as they are this year."

Economic Ignorance
PROFESSOR Tilney, of Columbia University, has just added his voice to that of the multitude that is crying for government by trained political economists who have made representative government their life work and study. In that number is President Hoover and many of our leading economists.

Are we to infer then that these men are not satisfied with the manner in which the national, state and local governments are being administered? They leave no alternative for the conclusion that many of the men and women now administering public affairs are now 100 per cent qualified to do so.

In this belief the professors and doctors but confirm a popular theory that has been demonstrated, proved and verified.

Professor Tilney says a public executive must have some knowledge of "the philosophy of human association, the moral and biological history of the human race, and individual, group and racial psychology and psychopathology." What does the average man, who is plucked from private life into the chair of the governor or president or into some legislative chamber, know about these matters?

President Hoover has repeatedly said that in his opinion, economic ignorance is one of the nation's grave perils. And yet a congress made up of men who know less about economics than they do about the Einstein theory toys constantly with the economics of the nation. Can a "scientific tariff schedule" originate in such a body?

Good Handwriting
INVENTION helps the human hand but seldom supplants it. Printing presses and typewriters only make work for more hands skilled in the use of the pen.

The National Association of Penmanship Teachers in its annual convention revealed the fact that the future of the pen is promising. The demand grows for good penmen.

In the olden days all books were made and reproduced by hand writing. When first the art was discovered of printing from movable type, designers of the letters tried to make them resemble those written by hand.

Then came the typewriter with its perfect legibility and great rapidity, and at first there was prejudice against its use. The tradition of hand writing was strong. Later the prediction would become mechanical and the art of the scribe would be lost.

But experience, now well advanced, proves the contrary. Half the written work in the average business office, in spite of the variety and complexity of mechanical apparatus, is done by hand, the penmanship experts say.

The need now is for more and better penmen, and by better they mean more legible writers. The famous Horace Greeley scrawl has now no prestige. The scrolls and ornamentations of the pen artists are not in demand. But writing that makes plain the distinction between e and i and that crosses its i's is both practical and profitable for the student to learn.

Mackerel-Time
MACKEREL-time is drawing. The first of the 200 vessels of the Gloucester fishing fleet arrived at the fishing grounds several days ago and settled down to await the signal that the mackerel are running. The fish are moving northward, and soon the annual race for the first cargo of finny treasure will be run.

Mere landlubbers can sense the thrill of the rivalry of the mackerel fleet. Its skippers come from fishing families, some of them going generations back, and their pride in their vessels is as great as that of a turfman in his thoroughbreds.

For weeks before the fishing season opens they labor over their craft, getting them "tuned" to the greatest speed. Then for days they lie in port awaiting the signal. It comes, and in the scant dawn they are off, straining to be first to reach the fishing ground. Then back, wallowing with a wriggling, silver cargo, nosing out one, two, a dozen close rivals and winning by a matter of minutes. Would it be mackerel season without the race? Never!

The late Wayne B. Wheeler's secretary says the Anti-Saloon League head controlled a congressional, dictated to two presidents and directed legislation through out the nation. And he isn't here to defend himself.

Three balls may not be the mark of a pawnbroker. For example these are Uncle Sam's three balls—baseball, golf ball and foot ball.

Bob sends for Ann. Against Bob's wishes, Ted calls in Dr. Price and swears him to secrecy. Under Ann's and Ted's care, Bob recovers. He relates the story of "El Coyote."

CHAPTER XL
"Years ago," the soft voice went on, "your father took me to one woman I ever cared for. That was your mother. She was right when she chose your father; I never questioned that. He was a better man, and so he took her, as he took all things, but since that far-off day life has never seemed the serious, heroic business I had dreamed it. Life ceased to have any high importance from that time on."

"I came out here. I expected perhaps to find a kind of Garden of Eden, where men lived on a wider, cleaner stage, and I found a land more lovely than any I had ever known. A land of sunshine and great beauty and over it a cloud of human servitude. I found a people struggling against slavery. And seeing all those things—I was very young then, Ted—it seemed to me that the game could be played to still another tune, and it seemed a thing well worth trying. To see if one, by stepping outside the law, could not break the bonds that were holding a whole people in slavery and poverty."

"So I bought this ranch very cheaply, for everyone thought I would be killed dry within two years by the big fellows like Morales. The first year my law-abiding enemies took away a waterhole that was mine, and two hundred cattle died. Before the year was out, five hundred cattle had been stolen from those same gentlemen and sold at a good price across the pass. I kept very exact accounts in those days, and, as they robbed me in one way I took them in another. One year, in an effort to force me out, they had all of my cattle refused for shipment. A month later their paymaster was held up and six thousand dollars taken from him. That more than balanced the little matter."

"Meanwhile, I was awakening the Mexican press. This would offend him nothing, but I did. I offered him nothing, I raised up his eyes. I taught him to clench his hands into fists. All these things meant the passing of years, while I worked through men I trusted, and as in the making of all omicets, some eggs had to be broken. There is blood on my hands. I am not a sentimentalist. When I must I am a killer. Disloyalty and cruelty I will not tolerate. I cannot help it even if I would. Meanwhile, as the world goes, I have prospered."

Bob's eyes fixed on the flickering fire. At last he shook his head. "Times change, old son. It isn't she sings until early dawn. If you

Most Deformities are Due To Early Neglect of Rickets
Babies Should Be Watched Carefully for First Signs of This Disease, Which Often Causes Defects Requiring Surgical Operations, Unless Proper Cure Is Given.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

SCIENCE has found ways to prevent the marked deformities which were so common in former years. Unfortunately, however, curvatures of the spine, bowed legs and knock knees are still by no means uncommon, and this is particularly true among children in the crowded districts of our larger cities.

Rickets is a chief cause of such deformities. This is known to the doctors as a "Dr. Copeland deficiency disease," and is due to the lack of certain mineral substances in the blood. Infants after the age of four months and up to the age of two years are commonly affected. The softness of the bones is so great as to cause deformities of the head and of the long bones, especially those of the legs.

The first symptom of rickets in a baby is usually an absence of tone in the skin. This results in profuse sweating, sometimes confined to the head but at times affecting the entire body. The mother notices that the child's pillow is wet after the daily nap, and is at a loss to account for the fact.

Soon the baby becomes restless at night and is fidgety and cries when handled. If these danger signs are neglected the muscles become flabby and the abdomen protuberant, and indigestion, constipation or bronchitis may develop. In such thin, flabby children are most frequently the sufferers from rickets, but fat, overweight children are not free from it by any means.

Lack of sunshine is a great factor. A child cannot prosper with poor hygienic home conditions, while a diet deficient in vitamins is considered responsible in many cases for these symptoms. The winter season, with its bad weather and absence of sunlight, furnishes by far the larger number of cases.

It used to be claimed that artificially fed babies were more likely to have rickets than the breast-fed. Observation has not borne out this theory.

The prevention of rickets is far easier than its cure. If sunshine is not to be had, one of the sun-lamps will act as an excellent substitute. A treatment at least two or three times a week has proved most helpful to the little patients.

Fresh air and a diet rich in vitamin D are essential to the child's welfare. Vitamin D, the "sunshine vitamin," is found in milk, orange juice, eggs and codliver oil. The diet of the younger babies should include the vegetable water—the "pot likers." Stewed vegetables for the other children are very beneficial.

Codliver oil should be a part of the routine treatment during the winter months. When advised by a physician, a vitamin D may be given to a baby if a child has rickets or a tendency to it, great care must be exercised to prevent deformities. The bones are soft and easily bent, and for this reason it is unwise to encourage a baby to walk or stand at too early an age. Bear in mind these warnings, because severe deformities, once developed, must be treated by a specialist. The baby requires braces, or even surgical operations.

Briefly, to avoid rickets give baby sunshine, fresh air and a suitable diet. Consult your physician if baby shows any of the signs of threatened rickets.

Today marks a favorable period for those who have the courage of their convictions. The morning shows no particularly beneficial indications but is generally favorable for routine affairs. The afternoon favors those who incline to expansion and are ready to reach out for new business. The best period comes around 1:25 p. m. Eastern Standard Time. This is the high spot of the day and is beneficial financially. Favors selling more than buying. People express more confidence and spend freely at such a time. Professional men may expect a little benefit. Around 3:55 p. m. those who have original ideas should seek to promote or market them. A time to develop new business methods, time-saving or labor-saving devices.

Agitators may be active this afternoon and most people may feel a readiness to listen. But the wise ones will discount all the political propaganda on a day like this. Reforms are everywhere in the making but progress cannot be furthered by destructive methods. After dinner the indications are not favorable for social activity. It would be well to avoid friction and ill-feeling and be more considerate of other people's feelings. Such a whole evening is marked by such restlessness and desire for change.

Those born on this day has a good share of the faculty of combativeness and firmness. Such a combination makes the child independent and ready to argue and stand up for its rights all through life. These little ones are somewhat unyielding. If I can't have it, you can't, is their cry. As they grow

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK
by Edison Radio Co.
Cincinnati, Ohio

William Southern, Jr., editor of the Independence, Mo., Examiner, says:

"Did it ever occur to you that advertising is not printed in a newspaper for the benefit of the publisher, on account of friendship in order to help the paper along, but because the advertiser would pay the advertiser from a business standpoint?"

"Did it ever occur to you that an advertisement was not a commodity at all, but a service?"

"Not long ago an advertiser who operates a big store told one of our solicitors that he would never run a line in our paper if it were not for his friendship for the solicitor. That merchant should not run advertisements at all if that is his reason for spending the money."

"A great many seem to consider an advertisement as a commodity, something sold by the inch and that one inch is worth the same as another inch. One inch in a real newspaper which gives service is worth many times the same amount of space in a free circular. Advertising is not a commodity at all and cannot be intelligently bought by the pound or by the foot or by the inch. Advertising is a service, not a commodity."

"A small ad in your home town paper to sell a used automobile is worth as much as if it were printed in a large city paper with a hundred times the circulation. If this advertisement is a small commodity, it will sell the automobile, that is all the same advertisement could possibly do, printed in the big paper. If in your circulation of three thousand one man is found who buys the product advertised, the advertisement is worth just as much as if it had been printed in a paper with a hundred thousand circulation."

"Advertising is not a commodity but a service. Advertisements are not paid for to help out the newspaper, but because the advertiser hopes that it will bring good business to his doors."

One of the students gave this quotation in favor of Lee: "Lee met discouragement and defeat with patience and fortitude; he met success and victory with self-restraint and dignity; he is one whose soul is lightened by an inner glow which pale the flickering lights of earth."

Last September the students organized their classes. The officers for the A division were: Matilda Davis, president; Max Stout, vice-president; and Anne Vierbome, secretary. Those of the B class were: Marvane Wallace, president; Richard Melson, vice-president; and Marie Peterson, secretary. DRAMATIC CLUB TO GIVE SECOND PRESENTATION
On Wednesday, April 13, the Sign of the Masque presents its second play of the season at the Cliftona Theatre. The vehicle for this performance is Eugene O'Neill's "Two Crooks and a Lady." Belying its title, the play is not just another hoodlum, gangster drama but a very tense and dramatic moment in the otherwise dull and painful existence of a very aristocratic lady. It gives an excellent chance for a number of difficult characterizations, which the club feels have been well taken care of.
While the club has not been before the public eye as much as might have been wise, still it has been working steadily and quietly in preparation for the coming performance, and feels that it will give as great an amount of pleasure by this latest effort as in its previous play.
The success of the first play was quite beyond the best expectations and it is hoped that this will equal if not surpass it.
The Sign of the Masque is a comparatively new organization in Circleville social and club life yet it hopes to succeed with the best simply because it will always strive to please and improve both itself and the public.

of the executive committee as the man who will wield the gavel as the voting proceeds was characterized as a compromise.
IS COMPROMISE
The faction working for the nomination of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, supported Senator Barkley, while the selection of Shouse as permanent chairman favored the so-called Smith-Raskob-Shouse element.
The compromise was effected at a meeting of a sub-committee appointed at the behest of the Roosevelt workers after a morning of fruitless bickering.

Choice of Senator Barkley and Shouse was in the form of recommendations subject to the approval of the National committee and the convention. The national committee meets here shortly before the convention. It was said that some opposition may develop to Senator Barkley because of his record, but the majority of Democratic leaders here were confident that the selection of the committee on arrangements will be approved.

Gov. Roosevelt participated in yesterday's committee deliberations by telephone. His campaign manager, James H. Farley, called Albany during the noon recess. The New York Governor also talked to Mrs. John C. Greenway, national committee woman from Arizona.
Mayor Frank Hague, of Jersey City, led the opposition to the Roosevelt forces in the committee's deliberations, and was in the forefront of the fight to name Shouse.

in congress today with president Hoover's proposals under attack by Democratic leaders.
While the sentiment to slash appropriations, and thus lessen the shock of new burdens, is overwhelming and non-partisan, the plan to abolish bureaus and end duplication of government services, faced a different situation.

The president's first request to Congress for authority to reorganize bureaus himself was summarily rejected. His second proposal, for a joint committee to cooperate with a committee named by him, likewise was spurned by the Democrats.
Instead, Democratic leaders said they will welcome any specific proposals for reduction of expenses made by Mr. Hoover, but if none are forthcoming they will propose a reorganization plan of their own.

Crist and Max C. Seyfert Jr. Following is Judge Adkins' sentence of Arthur Little;

"Mr. Arthur Little, you were indicted in the October Term of The Court of Common Pleas of Pickaway County, Ohio, by the Grand Jury of murder in the first degree of having killed John Kidney while in the perpetration of a burglary of the dwelling house. On the 8th day of March, 1932, you pleaded not guilty to that indictment. On the 28th day of March, 1932, you went to trial on that indictment and on the first day of April, 1932, the jury returned a verdict against you of murder in the first degree as charged in the said indictment without any recommendation of mercy. It now becomes the duty of the Judge to impose the sentence on you as provided by the law.

"Before the Court imposes that sentence, you have a right and the privilege of speaking in your own behalf why the sentence of the Court should not be pronounced against you.
"It is the sentence of the Court that the said defendant, Arthur Little, on the 22nd day of July, 1932, within the walls of the Penitentiary at Columbus, Ohio, be executed by causing a current of electricity of sufficient intensity to cause death to pass through the body of said Arthur Little, and the application of said current continued until said Arthur Little is dead; that he be taken hence to the jail of Pickaway County, and that within the next thirty days the sheriff of Pickaway County convey the said Arthur Little to the Ohio Penitentiary, and deliver him to the warden of the said Penitentiary, and that, at the time and place herein named, the said warden cause a current of electricity, of sufficient intensity to cause death, to pass through the body of the said Arthur Little, and the application of said current continued until the said Arthur Little is dead; that the said Arthur Little pay the costs of this prosecution, and execution is awarded."

She said she did not know the present whereabouts of her husband which increased the speculation aroused by his absence and gave impetus to current rumors that he was in New England.

PRESSURE-COOKING MAKES NEW SHREDDED BISCUIT TASTIER

Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit Great Improvement
One of the first things to be noticed about the new, improved Kellogg's WHOLE WHEAT Biscuit is the unusually delightful flavor and crispness. The Kellogg Company uses a special process of "pressure-cooking." This bakes in the rich flavor. Every shred is thoroughly cooked and therefore easier to digest.
The biscuits are then toasted a light golden brown on both top and bottom—not just one side. This makes them much crisper and crunchier.
Economy has not been overlooked either. Instead of the usual dozen, you get 15 biscuits to the package. Incidentally, the biscuits are a new, convenient size—two just fit the cereal bowl.

There is also news in the fact that the Kellogg biscuit is so rich in food value that the Medical Arts Laboratory of Philadelphia certifies every package. Mothers are welcoming this improved and healthful cereal. They find it equally delightful for breakfast, lunch, or children's suppers—serving it with hot or cold milk or cream, and sometimes adding fruits or honey.
Local grocers have this new shredded biscuit. It may be identified by the familiar red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

NEWS OF HOMES AND HOME FOLKS
Published by STEVENSON'S
VOL. 3. NO. 14
Tuesday, April 5, 1932

It would have been quite a pleasure, we are very sure, to have been a small mouse and watched a certain professional man arranging the books, papers, and stationery in the spanking new roll-top desk that we delivered to his home not long ago. Up to that time, he had been using a library table for a desk, but it was not adequate to do his work. Besides, between you, I, and the gate-post, we believe that his better half objected to so many of his books, papers, and other accumulations, being visible from the living room. Well, at any rate, we delivered him a beautiful walnut roll-top desk and chair. And now, for a time at least, the rule will be "A place for everything and everything in its place."

There's another piece of office equipment that is needed in every office, and that is a filing cabinet. Once such a cabinet is used, the office man wonders how in the world he ever got along without it. Really, there's no excuse for sticking papers in boxes and barrels, when a modern filing cabinet may be had for the small sum of $19.50. The one that we have in mind is a four-drawer one and is finished in olive green enamel. It was only a short time ago that this same cabinet sold for $31.00. Yes, we have one in stock for immediate delivery. Who wants it?

A "Bed-spring, luxurious" De Luxe was taken to the home of an east-ender recently. The husband is a rather large man but we are sure that he'll find that the De Luxe will give him the "rest of his life." And now, if he'll only put one of our good inner-spring mattresses—the "Lenox" or the "Slumberon"—between him and the spring, he'll find that only the odor of frying ham and eggs will induce him to "crawl out of the hay."

S. M. Cryder, salesman for The Circleville Motors Co., says that when selling a Scotchman an auto, before the sale can be closed, he must always agree to throw in the clutch.

Last Saturday a week ago, a customer asked for a spring and mattress for an unusually odd-sized bed. It was necessary for us to have the factory make up a spring and mattress especially for her. We mention this just to remind you that no matter what size you wish a spring or mattress, we can get it for you.
Judging from the number of sewing machine needles and belts that are going out of this store, it must be spring "sowing" time.
A number of trellises were delivered to a resident in the north end of the city yesterday. He's getting ready for his roses to have something on which to spread out in all of their glory. You'll find that our trellises and other lawn furniture are very reasonable and well made, and it's not a bit too early to be getting ready for your garden settings.
More and more the housekeepers are learning that a cushion under their rugs and carpets will not only prolong the life of the floor coverings, but the feel of the rug or carpet will be entirely different with a pad under it. Just one day last week, a housekeeper from the north end came in and purchased a pad for a 9x12 rug for another for an $3x16.6. Since the price of a pad for a 9x12 rug is only $2.95, the investment is well worth while.

Last Friday a young mother from out west of Roundtown came in and asked to see some crib pads. She was amazed to find that she could purchase such nice looking baby crib pads, and so fluffy, at such low prices. This amazement could be extended to our stock of mattresses for full-grown folks too, if she had only looked at them. Mattresses never were made better than they are today, and never could so little money purchase such a comfortable bed.

We see by the papers that another resident of Roundtown has been called upon to head his profession's organization. This time it is "Doc" Phillips, the tooth-yanker, who has been chosen to head his dental society. We believe that we are safe in saying that no city of the size of Circleville can be found furnishing as many principal officers for commercial and professional organizations as our town. And speaking of dentists, we are all proud of the fact that Circleville, up to a very short time ago had the oldest practicing dentist in the U. S. A.—our own Dr. H. R. Clarke. Even at his age, we'll say that Dr. Clarke can still do more manual labor than many of the younger generation.

"How long have you been working for this company?"
"Ever since they threatened to fire me."
Now that April is with us, we'll be hearing, very soon, the hum of the lawn mower, and the whacking of the carpet beater. All of this reminds us of the fact that our carpet and rug department never showed such values as this spring. Good quality and good patterned Axminster rugs start at only $26.00 for the 9x12 size, and a good quality of Axminster (carpeting at only $1.70 per yard. Yes, and you have never seen such values in "conglomerate" (should be called "felt-based") rugs and yard goods as prevail at our store this spring. A GOOD quality of rug for only $5.70 in the 6x12 size.

And, "It won't be long now" until Bob Brebner's new Ford cars will be buzzing around town, and our country friends will be hunting up a good old cook stove. While we can't sell them a new auto, our PERFECTION, FLORENCE, and PYROFAX GAS stoves will make things more comfortable for country cooks in the hot weather. You can find cheaper hot-weather stoves, but we'll bet you that you can't find better ones.

Protect Your Family at Night With a Bedside Telephone
You wake up suddenly. You realize that prowlers are in the house. Or that the house is on fire and the room is filling with smoke. The first thing to do is to summon help—by telephone.
In one such emergency a bedside telephone repays its cost for years and years. Even if a bedside telephone had no other value (and it is a great convenience in answering late hour calls and it is almost indispensable in times of illness) yet it would still be worth its weight in gold as "night-time insurance." Make sure your family is protected. Order a bedside telephone installed—today.
